

The Equality Act 2010 - Are you ready?

On October 1st 2010, the Equality Act replaced the Disability Discrimination Acts and all other previous British equality legislation.

To find out about:

- what new rights exist under the Equality Act
- changes coming into force in April 2011, including the duties for public bodies to tackle social and economic inequality
- how you and your organisation can ensure you are ready to implement and get the most from the Act

contact Linda Laurie Associates.

We provide training and consultancy to help you and your organisation get ready for these new challenges and opportunities.

LLA training explains:

- how the Equality Act extends protection from indirect discrimination and harassment
- how discrimination on the basis of impairment, assumption or association is now unlawful
- new tight restrictions upon the use of medical screening in recruitment
- how to use positive action to tackle inequalities in the workforce
- the extended duties upon service providers to make 'Reasonable Adjustments' for Disabled People and other key changes affecting you and your organisation

Participants work with practical case studies and analytical tools to become more confident in applying the principles of the Act.
